Huhns Endow Scholarship

The largest single gift in Saint Joe history has established the Thomas J. Huhn Athletic-Leadership Scholarship, a full four-year tuition-room-board scholarship made eligible to graduates of high schools in Allen and contiguous Indiana counties.

The scholarship is underwritten by an endowment grant of $500,000 from Thomas J. Huhn, a 1959 Saint Joseph's alumnus, Fort Wayne native and president of Alexander Proudfoot, Inc., and his wife Elizabeth McNulty-Huhn.

Eligibility for the scholarship requires that the recipient maintain a C-plus high school average, exhibit achievement and leadership in football or basketball and in academics, and be recommended for the scholarship by one or more of the student's high school faculty members and the school's football or basketball coach.

The Huhn Scholarship will be offered starting with the 1987-88 academic year. In the subsequent three years, a new Huhn Scholarship will be added each year to assure that a recipient be graduated each year in perpetuity.

The purpose of the scholarship is "to encourage talented and qualified student-athletes to pursue full-time academic studies at Saint Joseph's."

The scholarship was announced December 17, 1986 to 40 Allen County high school counselors, principals and athletic directors at a reception in the Grand Wayne Center in Fort Wayne.

Saint Joe Praised On PBS News Show

On November 13, 1986, Saint Joseph's College was mentioned on the MacNeil-Lehrer News Hour, a syndicated television show on the Public Broadcasting System.

Guests for the program were William Bennett, the U.S. Secretary of Education, and Ernie Boyer, President of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

During the program, Bennett cited developments in the teaching of liberal arts at Harvard. Boyer interrupted, saying, "viewers should also understand that exemplary liberal arts programs are not limited to only the large, well-known universities." Boyer stated that "Saint Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Indiana" is an example of a small college that does well in teaching the liberal arts.

Wilhelm Named Chairman Of The Board

Philip J. Wilhelm '63, vice president of the F.A. Wilhelm Construction Company and president of Southeastern Supply Co. in Indianapolis, has been elected chairman of the board of trustees at Saint Joseph's. During 1981-84, he was chairman of the College's $7 million capital gifts campaign, largest in the school's history. He was presented with an honorary doctor of laws degree during commencement on May 5, 1985 by Saint Joseph's.

Presidents' Corner

Dear Friends:

The season of Lent is upon us: a time of repentance, of turning our lives around — back to God.

In the story of the Prodigal Son, we see a man who took his inheritance and left his father's house only to discover the emptiness of a life of sin. When he turned away from the life that his licentious behavior had brought him, he turned back toward the love of his father. His turning — his repentance — is the path we should take during Lent: a turning away from selfishness so we can turn more fully toward the love of our Heavenly Father.

The Church prepares us during Lent for the great mystery of love that is most poignantly recounted during Holy Week, when God takes upon Himself man's sufferings — unto death — and so brings mankind back to life and love in the glory of the Resurrection. If we keep our eyes on this great mystery, Lent can truly be a positive, loving experience.

Charles Banet, C.P.P.S.

Dear Alumni and Friends:

1986 saw a goodly amount of progress in the Alumni Association's continuing program to inform alumni and involve them with one another and their alma mater. Regional activities and chapter formation lead our list of priorities, but we are also proud of advances in the class agents, career assistance, and student recruitment programs, as well as the good work on campus of the Student/Alumni Foundation.

We look forward to being of increasing service to Saint Joe alumni — and to the entire College community — as we plan and implement our future programs.

SJC Alumni Association

Tom Huhn — His Story

SJC Sports Career

Tom Huhn '59 was a three-year SJC letterman in football, 1956-58. He was named ICC first team center in his senior year and second team ICC guard in junior year, as well as SJC Most Valuable Player in 1958. He was starting guard on 1956 Aluminum Bowl team and one of the best linemen of the Coach Bob Jauron era.

Professional Life

When Huhn graduated from Saint Joe in 1959, he went to Chicago to work in Montgomery Ward's mail order division, a position the SJC Placement Office helped him acquire. He was there for two years in the firm's management training program.

In 1961 he met and started working for Alexander Proudfoot, who had been in business over 10 years and was then starting a consulting business. The company was regional at that time, servicing clients east of the Mississippi. In 1966, Huhn convinced Proudfoot to expand west of the Mississippi.

Proudfoot passed away in 1969, and Huhn was part of a group that acquired the company from his estate.

In 1970 the firm entered the international market. Over the next 10 years, Huhn and his associates set up affiliates in Europe, South America, Canada, Mexico, Asia and the Pacific.

Alexander Proudfoot has become the third largest consulting firm in the world. It is a limited partnership with 28 companies throughout the world.

Throughout his association with the firm, Huhn held different management positions, and in 1986 was made president and chief operating officer of the company.

Gift Motivation

The Huhns' scholarship gift stems from the former lineman's real-life experiences. When he came to SJC, his parents could not afford college for any of the family's children. The athletic program at Saint Joe allowed him to get a college education.

Huhn believes that athletics provide a good training ground for life. "Athletics develop leadership qualities, discipline, the work ethic and a critical sense of team play," says Huhn.

Huhn also believes that everybody's got to pay their dues. "Reciprocity is what life's all about," he says. "You can't continue to take; you have to give back now and again and offer somebody else the opportunity you received."

Schoolmate Recollections

When approached for anecdotal highlights from Tom Huhn's life, his classmates and friends offered accounts that were both colorful and indicative of the high esteem in which they hold their fellow Puma.

Former roommate Joseph Sack '58 noted that "Tom wasn't the big bully everyone thought he was. In fact, he used to give me my hair cuts."

James O. Tegtmeyer '59 had the pleasure of being on the same squad with Tom Huhn when they went to the Aluminum Bowl. Huhn was first-string lineman and Tegtmeyer was on what he says Coach Jauron called the "rinky-dink squad." Huhn weighed in at 220 pounds, Tegtmeyer at 185. During one particular practice, Tegtmeyer recalls that he was able to block Huhn, and Coach Jauron, "in order to get Huhn's goat," blew the whistle and called the team over to see the relatively small Tegtmeyer knock Huhn down. Needless to say, Huhn took his revenge and clobbered Tegtmeyer.

When Mike Bartels '61 was a freshman and sophomore, Huhn was a junior and senior, and one of the few married players on the football team. Bartels remembers that "Big Tom Huhn" would always throw a "fine" party at his home after every game of the season, from which Bartels carries many memories.

Huhn, according to Bartels, is "a hard-nosed, competitive guy," someone he enjoyed going head-to-head against.

President Banet recalls Huhn's devotion to the College as an active alumnus. After the 1973 Administration Building fire, Huhn was one of the alumni to volunteer his services. He wrote ten pages of recommendations for the College to help it recover from the fire. "So his giving to the College doesn't start with this gift," says Father Banet. "Tom's been a major contributor throughout his post-SJC life."

Mike Murphy and Tom Huhn lead a muddy march from the field after a 3-0 victory over Eastern Michigan in 1958.

Puma Personalities

Don Chesak (junior, electrical engineering major, Rensselaer) became the first Saint Joseph's College student to address a senior section of the Indiana Academy of Science in Indianapolis. His subject was the "Engineering Aspects of Heavy-Duty, On and Off-Highway Trailers." He plans to pursue graduate work at Purdue University, and is the son of Dr. David Chesak, Saint Joe engineering advisor and professor of mathematics and physics.

Father William J. Kramer, C.P.P.S., professor of chemistry, is the author of Evolution and Creation: A Catholic Understanding. The book discusses the controversy over evolutionism and creationism. The book says there is some chance in creation, but it isn't a cause of anything. Father Kramer has been teaching at Saint Joseph's since 1953.

cter & Gamble, and Eli Lilly. He received his bachelor's degree from Saint Joseph's in 1973 and earned his master's degree in 1981 from Indiana University. He was a member of the first class to take all four years of Core. "You need both specialization and the liberal arts to give you the foundation you need to succeed as a professional," he says.

College Enrollment Up In U.S. And At Saint Joe

Saint Joseph's College, which enrolled 835 students for the winter 1987 semester, provides an accurate reflection of a surprising development on the national collegiate scene: enrollments last fall went up instead of down.

Many colleges and universities were anticipating drops in enrollment because of the steady decline in the number of traditional college-age students.

However, Saint Joseph's enrolled 847 students in August of 1985 and raised that figure to 850 in August 1986. The U.S. Department of Education's Center for Statistics had forecast last August a national decline by 83,000 from the previous academic year's level of 12,247,000.

Instead, the Center for Statistics reported in late December that a federal survey of community colleges, four-year colleges, and universities indicated that 12,398,000 students enrolled last fall in America's colleges — 151,000 more than the previous year.

"Obviously, we were very pleased that our enrollment increased," reports David Hoover, associate vice president for academic affairs and director of financial aid at Saint Joseph's.

"Nationally, as well as here at Saint Joseph's, I think the significant factor that has helped increase enrollments is a growth in the number of non-traditional age students who enrolled last fall," he says.

During recent years, increasing numbers of students beyond the age of 25 have come to Saint Joseph's on a part or full-time basis.

"As we look to the future, we pursue a non-passive, positive recruiting stance," Hoover continues. "Our office of admissions has implemented plans that include increased recruiting in certain areas and more visits to high schools. We also have increased the size of our admissions staff and we are holding more 'open houses' on campus during which we invite prospective students and their parents to visit us."

Has this approach paid off?

"We think so, because our applications are up significantly at this time compared to a year ago," answers Hoover. "We have received some very positive attention in regional and national media in the last several years, and it appears that more and more people are aware of the first-rate education that Saint Joseph's offers."

Hoover says he and other College officials look to the future with good cause for optimism, but also an awareness that efforts to alert prospective students to the educational advantages at Saint Joseph's must not be relaxed.

Gifts & Grants

Saint Joseph's was awarded $74,050 in foundation grants in December 1986. A grant for $37,550 was received from Lilly Endowment toward the development of the new semester program in Latin America. The Lilly grant meets the matching requirements of a $37,600 grant previously awarded for this program by the Consortium for the Advancement of Higher Education.

Grants in the amount of $10,000 from the H. C. Schott Foundation, Ohio, and $25,000 from the Frank J. Lewis Foundation, Fla., have been awarded, earmarked for the Hanson Recreation Center. The Motorola Foundation awarded the College an unrestricted grant of $1,500.

Hanson To Chair Golf Outing

Rich Hanson '63 will serve as honorary chairman of the Fourth Annual Alumni Golf Outing, to be held Friday, June 12, at Old Oak Country Club, 143rd & Parker Road, Orland Park, Ill.

Previous honorary chairmen have been Edward Vrdolyak '59, Jim Madden '64, and Edward Mulcahy '68. Hanson was selected as chairman for this year's outing because of his generous support and dedication to the College and his outstanding accomplishments in the business community.

"We are honored to have trustee Rich Hanson as one of our alumni," stated Doug Drake, Saint Joe Alumni Director. "His chairmanship of the golf outing is another sign of his willingness to give of himself for his alma mater and her alumni."

Reservations for dinner and golf should be made as soon as possible with ticket chairman Charlie Martin '73. Anyone who can spare a little time to help out with this year's outing is asked to contact either the Alumni Office or Charlie Martin at 312/257-5750.

Writing Clinic Helps Out

By Amy Ceader

Many students have found Saint Joe's writing clinic to be a great help in finishing their homework. The clinic was established in 1969, around the time the Core program was founded.

"Before the installation of the Core program, the College used to require students to complete a basic composition course," says John Groppe, professor of English and advisor to the writing clinic. "But now Core incorporates essays and other compositions into its program.

John Groppe, English professor and writing clinic advisor.

"The clinic helps students learn different styles of writing."

"Most high schools don't allow for much development of literary skills," he continues. "Professors felt there was a need for additional support in the curriculum. Some of the Core assignments require styles of writing which may be unfamiliar to the student. In these cases, further explanation may be necessary."

The clinic is run on an appointment-only basis to prevent students from waiting until the last minute to seek help.

The clinic deals mainly with required writings, but can offer help with any type.

Services offered run from simple proofreading to step-by-step instructions. It is run by students; present staff members are: Kate Conlon, senior English major (Crown Point, Ind.); Ron Seth, senior biology major (Whiting, Ind.); and Maude Dettner, junior English major (DeMotte, Ind.).

Core Essay Winners Named

Saint Joseph's College has named its winners of the "Best of Core" essay contest for the second semester of the 1985-86 academic year.

Entries of the contest winners and finalists were drawn from writings done by students in the various sections of Saint Joseph's Core general education curriculum; each winner received a cash prize of $25.

Contest winners and their essay titles are:

Kevin Klimara (sophomore, Monticello, Ind.), "Why the Study of the Romans is More Beneficial to the Political Science Student Than is the Study of the Hebrews and the Greeks"; Mark Lamb (sophomore, Palatine, Ill.), "The Civil War's Bloodiest Battle"; Annette Klinker (senior, Payne, Ohio), "Through Demented Ibo Eyes: A Role-Playing Exercise"; Elisa Sieu (1986 graduate, South Bend, Ind.), "Refugees: An American Problem"; and Mercedes Sheehy (senior, Cedar Lake, Ind.), "Will Population Be Our Biggest Hurdle?"

Other finalists and their essay titles are:

Amy Ceader (junior, Westville, Ill.), "An Aspiring Journalist Will Profit More From the Study of the Greeks than From the Study of the Hebrews"; Joseph Helmer (junior, Highland, Ind.), "A Railroad Worker in 1968"; Chris Milker (sophomore, Wabash, Ind.), "A Sailor on the HMS Beagle, 1833"; Aimee LaMere (senior, Crown Point, Ind.), "Environmental Development"; Marie Vigeant (1986 graduate, Rensselaer, Ind.), "What It's Gonna Be When I Grow Up?"; Marie Vigeant, "Sanctuary: The Conscientious Citizen."

Honors Core A Success

Saint Joseph's initiated an honors program within its nationally recognized Core program during the fall 1986 semester.

"My section of students has shown very impressive discipline, a high degree of motivation and preparation," says Dr. Charles Kerlin, professor of English who is teaching Core I honors section to 14 freshmen.

Dr. Robert Garrity, professor of English, teaches the Core III honors section. "It has been a real thrill to have such a talented group in one class and I'm impressed with their reading skills," he says.

"At the start of this semester, I thought I'd have to remind them that this is an honors course, but that isn't the case," Dr. Garrity continued. "The most important difference is that the students have done the assigned readings. In my other Core sections I quiz students over materials."

There are 16 sophomores in Dr. Garrity's honors course which covers the historical development of Christianity.

As for the future of Saint Joseph's honors program, Dr. Garrity says the positive response of his students indicates a bright future for the honors program. "I like the idea of passing the teaching responsibility to other faculty, to get more professors involved in honors Core."

Dr. Kerlin adds, "I think these students should be allowed to choose their discussion groups when they are upperclassmen."

Bishop Higi On Economic Justice

Bishop William Higi of the Diocese of Lafayette in Indiana visited Saint Joseph's Feb. 17 to address students on "Dialoguing for Economic Justice: A Bishop's Perspective." He spoke to the Core 10 class at 1 p.m., and the public was invited to attend.

Bishop Higi called upon the Indiana General Assembly to approve legislation adopting Aid to Families with Dependent Children-Unemployed Parent in a talk concerning the National Conference of Catholic Bishops' pastoral letter on Catholic social teaching and the U.S. economy.

"My concern about AFDC-UP is on an ecumenical level

General Assembly on behalf of the new AFDC bill because "the people with the most at stake in this issue have the least capacity to make their voices heard. What lesson do we teach our children when society demands that the mother and father leave home before society will help their family?"

Indiana ranks 35th among states in the comparative size of payments to AFDC recipients, and the U.S. House Ways and Means Committee has estimated that a Hoosier AFDC mother and three children lost 22 percent in real dollars between 1970 and 1985.

ment of contributed services, but we need to come to grips with topics such as the establishment of a credible retirement program for lay employees."

He stressed that church leaders examine compensation levels for lay employees, "especially those who teach in our schools, and above all women religious. Today there are Sisters who are practically impoverished."

Such in-house concerns, he added, should not prevent churchmen from speaking out on problems that confront society as a whole.

Regarding news media treatment of the bishops' pastoral letter on the economy, Bishop Higi said "much of the commentary has come from syndicated columnists, and some have been quite insensitive. Some have told us that 'as a clergy that doesn't live in the real world, you don't know what you are talking about.' "

Some media tend to concentrate on abuses of systems, and he said it would be more helpful for media to examine needs and potential solutions to meeting such needs.

"The media could help citizens understand that there are forces beyond our control that can render us poor overnight," he said. "The media also could help educate the public about the conditions and attitudes of the poor.

"This would be a welcome replacement for some of the prejudices some people adopt as an explanation for why people are poor or remain poor. We gain little from the stereotype that a poor person is someone who drives a Cadillac to a food store so he can go in and buy liquor with food stamps."

Bishop Higi says that it is true that some people may prefer to be supported by society. Others, he noted, may believe they cannot cope with the demands of our high-speed, technologically oriented society.

"But to write these people off as useless persons is an unrealistic approach, and the media could do a tremendous job of bringing all of us to an awareness of the realities involved here," he concluded.

"We should understand that there are forces beyond our control that can render us poor overnight."

— Bishop Higi

— we need to provide a safety net for Indiana citizens who are languishing because current AFDC payments are based on 1969 subsistence levels," he said. "AFDC has a major flaw in its current structure — a moral flaw — that necessitates the attention of the religious community."

He explained that AFDC does not now apply in families with two parents; to receive AFDC, the parents must separate under current law, applicants must resort to fraud, or the husband must commit a crime.

"Welfare should be based on need, not a family's structure, and we can challenge the morality of the current AFDC program because it denies help to poor children in two-parent families and encourages families to break up in order to receive help," Bishop Higi stressed.

He said that Indiana religious leaders from varied faiths have lobbied the

The Unemployed Parent portion of the bill is expected to cost $6 million; the other $12 million would go to the other part of the bill, which calls for increasing AFDC benefits to 45 percent of Indiana's poverty level, or an increase of about $25 a month for a mother and one child.

Current payment is $196 or 36 percent of the federal poverty level; the bill asks that Indiana develop its own poverty level, considering local costs, as a basis for future payment.

Eligibility for AFDC-UP payments would include poor families who have depleted unemployment benefits and any savings, have minor children, have worked six of the past 13 quarters and who continue to actively seek employment.

Bishop Higi said another great concern of his is "how we as a church address our lay employees. When you work for the Church, there is an ele-

Errors have been made in the 1985-86 volume and number sequence of Contact. The Spring 1985 issue was labeled Vol. 40, No. 4; it should have been Vol. 41, No. 1. Had this mistake not been made, Summer 1985 would have been Vol. 41, No. 2 (instead of No. 1), and Fall/Winter 1985 Vol. 41, No. 3 (instead of No. 2).

The Spring 1986 issue was correctly labeled Vol. 42, No. 1, but the two summer issues (including the Contact calendar) and the fall issue were erroneously labeled Vol. 43 (Nos. 2, 3, and 4).

The four issues (spring, summer, fall, winter) of the 1987 Contact will be labeled Vol. 44.

Jim Riley '70, of Riley's Trick and Novelty Co. of Worth, Ill., is "doing a little advertising for old Saint Joe's."

The Most Reverend Edward W. O'Rourke, D.D.

Bishop O'Rourke On Agriculture Policy

Bishop Edward W. O'Rourke of the Diocese of Peoria, Ill., addressed the students of Saint Joseph's on "Food and Agriculture — A Policy of Christian Stewardship." He spoke to Saint Joseph's Core 10 class at 1 p.m. in the campus auditorium, and the public was invited to attend.

"The future of farming will rise or fall depending upon how effectively farmers turn to cooperation in marketing," said Bishop O'Rourke. He stressed that while "excessive agricultural competition has made cheap food available to U.S. consumers, it also has undermined the economic stability of U.S. farmers and is threatening their way of life. Competition must be modified by cooperation."

Consumer cooperatives that make consumer goods available and producers' cooperatives that provide assistance in the production of marketing of goods have served farmers well for approximately 100 years, "but there is room for more extensive use of cooperatives in American agriculture today," he said.

Bishop O'Rourke, former executive director of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, noted that orange growers and hog and cattle growers have benefited from marketing cooperatives, but grain farmers continue to compete on a worldwide basis.

"The U.S. grain grower is impoverished by the competition in this field, and it is my hope that we can soon move toward developing a true worldwide cooperative marketing effort for grain such as wheat, corn, soybeans, oats and rice," he emphasized. "As it stands now, you can't help but go into debt when you grow corn and get just $1.40 per bushel."

It isn't necessary for every farmer to be in competition against every other farmer, he said.

Bishop O'Rourke underscored the value of widespread ownership of productive property, noting "this enables the individual to have an independence and dignity which is hard to accomplish without ownership. Since 1935, economic pressures and increases in the size of American farms have significantly reduced the ownership by farmers of farmland."

He pointed to the tradition of U.S. farming as a family operation and stressed that "moderate-sized farms operated by families on a full-time basis should be preserved and their economic viability protected. Similarly, small farms and part-time farming, particularly in areas close to cities, should be encouraged."

Cooperatives enable persons with limited capital to combine and compete effectively in the marketplace with larger corporations, he said.

benefits now go disproportionately to the largest farmers, should be reassessed for their long-term effects on the structure of agriculture. Income-support programs that help farmers according to the amount of food they produce or the number of acres they farm should be subject to limits that ensure a fair income to all farm families and should restrict participation to producers who genuinely need such income assistance."

He called for a strict ceiling on price-support payments which assist farmers in times of falling prices so that benefits go to farms of moderate or small size.

Bishop O'Rourke spoke in favor of reform of "complex tax

"Farmers carry a particular obligation to be caring stewards of our natural resources."

— Bishop O'Rourke

The Bishop Of Peoria, Ill.

Bishop O'Rourke was born on a farm near Downs, Ill., and attended St. Henry's College (Belleville, Ill.) and St. Mary of the Lake Seminary (Mundelein, Ill.) before he was ordained a priest of the Diocese of Peoria in 1944. He was made a Domestic Prelate with the title of Reverend Monsignor in 1963.

He served as assistant chaplain during 1944-1959 at the Newman Foundation at the University of Illinois, where he taught courses in philosophy and religion and counseled students. He was Director of Rural Life for the Diocese of Peoria during 1945-59 and supervised the resettlement of more than 1,400 refugees and displaced persons in the diocese during 1949-58.

Bishop O'Rourke was Executive Director of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference in Des Moines, Iowa during 1960-71. He assisted in the establishment of over 100 anti-poverty committees, more than 200 economic development committees and more than 100 cooperatives among low-income people in this nation and in five other nations.

He received bachelor and master of arts degrees from St. Mary of the Lake Seminary in 1940 and 1942, a licentiate of sacred theology from St. Mary of the Lake in 1944 and a licentiate of philosophy from Aquinas Institute (River Forest, Ill.) in 1960. He was installed as the sixth bishop of Peoria on July 15, 1971.

"In the near future, I shall convene interested parties in Peoria to examine the possibility of cooperatives of this sort," he added.

Bishop O'Rourke said one proposed cooperative that holds much potential is one to produce ethanol, a type of auto fuel derived from corn.

"Effective stewardship of our natural resources is a responsibility that rests on society as a whole, but since farmers make their living from the use of this endowment, they bear a particular obligation to be caring stewards of soil and water," he indicated.

Referring to world hunger, Bishop O'Rourke said "the vocation of farmers is not just to earn a living, but also to provide food for God's children throughout the world. A prime consideration in all agricultural trade and food-assistance policies should be the contribution our nation can make to global food security."

While discussing the role of government, he said established farm programs, "whose policies which now encourage the growth of large farms, attract investments into agriculture by non-farmers seeking tax shelters, and inequitably benefit large and well-financed farming operations."

He urged that the research and extension resources of the federal government and the nation's land-grant colleges and universities be redirected toward improving the productivity of small and medium-sized farms.

Bishop O'Rourke called attention to the plight of migrant agricultural workers, the near-total isolation of blacks from agricultural ownership, and the plight of poor people at home and abroad when they lack sufficient food.

"Migratory field workers are particularly susceptible to exploitation," he commented. "This is reflected not only in their characteristically low wages, but in the low standards of housing, health care and education made available to these workers and their families."

Reflection Pond Reminiscences

It seems fitting, during the 90th anniversary year of the reflecting pond in front of the Chapel, to publish the reminiscences of John P. McDonough '24, whose Saint Joe memories seem to revolve around this body of water (which he refers to as "the lake").

I graduated, barely, as a commercial student with the class of '24. My schoolmates and I had a daring habit of beginning to skate on the lake while the ice was what we called "rubber ice," because it would give as we skated. One boy was warned not to skate because the ice wasn't very thick. He ignored the warning and fell through. Others had to jump in and break the ice because he could not find the hole he had made.

The town boys had a habit of cluttering the lake with anything up to a wagon on Halloween. I think it was the year before my arrival that the Saint Joe students made an attempt to discourage the practice when they caught a couple of the boys, tied them up, built a fire, and heated a couple of branding irons while rubbing a place on the captives' skin, bringing the blood to the surface. At the time of the prisoners' greatest anxiety, the iron was brought close to the back of one of the boys and brought in connection with a concealed piece of ice as another piece of ice was applied to the irritated skin. There was no cluttering of the lake during my time at Saint Joseph's.

Gaspar Hall would have been 90 this year (razed in 1982). Here it reflects on its fate in the Reflecting Pond.

June 21, 1939: Saint Joe Cardinals Become Pumas

Ed Fischer '34 provides the following account of the varsity name change:

Saint Joseph's athletic teams have not always been called the Pumas. Saint Joseph's nickname has only been the Pumas since 1939. Prior to that time, the College teams were known as the Cardinals.

In the summer of 1939, chickens and cows just outside Rensselaer were mutilated by some unknown beast. It became quite a media event, drawing reporters from as far away as Chicago.

Great cat-like paw prints were discovered. It seemed a puma had escaped from the Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago. People attributed the prints to the wild animal.

The occasion precipitated the determination that Cardinals was too tame a name for a football team. The named changed to Pumas and Saint Joseph's teams have been the Pumas ever since.

Men's

Nov. 15. Saint Joseph's opened up its season with an exhibition win against the Windsor (Ontario, Canada) Canucks, 106-79. Five Pumas scored in double figures as the hosts raced out to a 39-15 lead during the first 12 minutes, then cruised into halftime with a 57-30 bulge.

Nov. 21-26. It was off to Puerto Rico for the El Chicarón Invitational Tournament. Saint Joseph's won all five games and the championship: against the University of Salgrado Corazon, 87-64; Colegio-Universitario de Mayaguez, 92-82; University of Turabo, 101-68; Arecibo, 94-78; and Bayamon, 84-70.

Nov. 29. A taller and stronger Division I Dayton team passed up the Pumas, 66-57. Saint Joe relied on nifty medium-range shooting and rugged rebounding early on to grab a 20-16 lead after the first 12 minutes, and the visiting Pumas held their final lead of the night at 21-20 with 6:12 left in the opening half.

Dec. 1. Division I Xavier plowed over the Pumas, 88-68. Saint Joseph's led 34-28 during the first half, but the Musketeers passed them up in the second half, enjoying a commanding 70-44 lead with nine minutes remaining.

Dec. 4. The Pumas recovered from the Xavier contest in time to rout Trinity, 103-57. Saint Joseph struggled briefly in the early going and led by just 19-16 after the first eight minutes, but then the Pumas swamped Trinity by 28-4 in the next eight minutes to assume a 47-20 lead with just over four minutes remaining until halftime.

Dec. 6. Eleven hundred home fans watched the Pumas beat Manchester, 86-53. John Stitz made his thousandth point during the match. Saint Joe jumped out to a 14-4 lead in the first seven minutes, then after the visitors closed to 16-13 four minutes later the Pumas pulled steadily away to a 37-25 halftime advantage. SJC gained its first 20-point bulge at 56-36 with 12:46 left to play.

Dec. 11. The Pumas "treed" the Huntington Foresters, 108-76. Now 8-2 for the season, Saint Joe crept out to a 29-24 lead with 10:07 gone in the opening half, then the Pumas blitzed the visitors with 13 consecutive points to assume a 42-24 command with Halleck Student Center — 25 years old this year.

Campus Buildings Celebrate Anniversaries

Saint Joseph's College owns a long and distinguished history, and that fact is readily reflected with each passing year as various College developments mark their anniversary milestones.

This is the 90th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone to mark the completion of Gaspar Hall in 1897. Originally built as a residence for "minims" (students below high school age), Gaspar was the faculty residence building from 1904-40, a student dormitory during 1941-73, and a faculty office building from 1973-80. The structure was torn down in November 1982.

Another College landmark now in its 90th year is the reflecting pond adjacent to the main campus entrance.

Eighty years ago, the current faculty office building — Dwenger Hall — was constructed as an infirmary and a place to accommodate visitors. It continued as the campus health center for many years, but in 1980-81 it became the faculty office building and the health center was moved to the ground floor of Schwieterman Hall.

Saint Joseph's powerhouse was completed 65 years ago, in 1922, and this year marks the 40th anniversary of Raleigh Hall, a war surplus building that was given to the College and transported and set up as a recreation building at government expense. It continued as the school's student recreation center until Halleck Center was finished in 1962, since which Raleigh Hall has housed offices for athletic coaches, the school's weight room, a classroom and a meeting room.

Lastly, this year is the 25th anniversary of the completion of Halleck Center. On September 13, 1962, former President Dwight Eisenhower came to the College on "Charlie Halleck Day" to assist in the dedication of the new student union center.

What Halleck replaced — 40-year-old Raleigh Hall.

Basketball

4:20 left in the half. SJC held a 50-33 halftime lead, and with less than three minutes gone in the second half the Pumas built their lead to 54-33. Huntington never came within 20 points after that.

Dec. 13. Saint Joseph's obtained a 19-point victory from IUPUI, 97-76. Saint Joe led all the way after a 10-point run in the first half.

Dec. 20. Saint Joseph's and Southern Indiana were in a 20-20 stalemate during the first eight minutes of their contest, but host Southern Indiana pulled away to a 39-27 advantage during the next six minutes. SJC bounced back to cut the gap to 43-37 at halftime, but in the end the Pumas dropped the 90-82 decision.

Dec. 22. Kentucky Wesleyan College overwhelmed Saint Joe, 100-69. Wesleyan swished its first six three-pointers and quickly jumped to a 33-13 lead in the first 11 minutes before Saint Joe bounced back on the shooting of Stan Kappers and John Stitz to narrow the Pumas' halftime deficit to 48-42. Saint Joe notched the first field goal of the second half to cut the margin to 48-44, but that was as close as the visitors could get. The Panthers tallied the next six points to make it 54-44 with 15:50 to play, then pushed their lead to 68-48 with 11:34 remaining. Saint Joe never closed to within 20 points of Wesleyan after that.

Dec. 29-30. The Pumas were victorious in the Purdue-Calumet Tournament as they flew by Judson College 81-61 in the first game. With the opening half just six minutes old, SJC moved out to a 14-3 lead, and the Pumas continued to convert Judson turnovers into quick baskets for the next 14 minutes as Saint Joe grabbed a 40-19 halftime lead. Judson never grew closer than a 16-point deficit during the second half. The Pumas then eked out an 85-84 victory over host Purdue-Calumet, capturing the championship of the Lakers' holiday tournament. Stan Kappers, who broke an 83-83 deadlock with 24 seconds remaining by netting a pair of freebies, was selected as the most valuable player of the tournament.

Jan. 3. Pumas beat the Norsemen of Northern Kentucky 79-65, though the score doesn't reflect the closeness of the game: Saint Joe was struggling to hold onto a 63-62 lead with four minutes to play before Joe Ruzevich canned one of his three back-door lay-ins with 3:54 remaining, making attack to pull away to a 36-27 lead with five minutes remaining until halftime. Bellarmine carried a 48-43 advantage to intermission, then clung to a lead of from three to eight points throughout the second half.

Jan. 10. Saint Joseph's won over Indianapolis in a close minutes of the second half to take the lead for good at 40-37 with 14:02 to play.

Jan. 15. Saint Joseph's fell 72-69 to Ashland, during a Great Lakes Valley Conference game. Saint Joe bounced back from a 22-17 deficit with 8:18 to go in the first half and tallied eight straight points to make it 25-22 at the 4:02 mark. The Pumas built their halftime margin to 36-30, but the visiting Eagles caught SJC at 45-45 less than five minutes into the second half. A minute later, a technical foul caused by a Puma fan throwing a roll of toilet paper initiated a five-point Ashland run and a 52-47 Eagle lead. Saint Joe rallied to gain a tie at 55-55, but the Eagles notched the game's next six points to move Ashland on top for good at 61-55.

Jan. 17. Saint Joseph's charged over the IUPU-Fort Wayne Mastodons, 68-60. After springing to a 9-0 lead within the first four minutes, Saint Joe built its advantage to 23-8 with 5:40 left in the first half. SJC gained its biggest lead of the night at 32-14 with 1:36 to go before the visiting Mastodons gave an indication of what was to come by scoring the final six points of the half to narrow the intermission margin to 32-20. Fort Wayne steadily whittled the Pumas' lead to two points at 43-41 with 8:50 to play, then gained a tie at 52-52 with 5:02 remaining. Two free throws by Fort Wayne gave the team its only lead at 56-55 with 3:20 left, but SJC answered with Todd Kennard's three-point bucket at 2:57 and a pair of Stan Kappers' free throws at 2:29 to regain a 60-56 margin. IPFW closed to within 60-59 with 1:13 to go, but four free throws by Kennard and a pair by Jerry Alicea pulled the hosts out of danger at 66-59 with only 31 seconds to play.

Jan. 22. Saint Joseph's trounced on Purdue-Calumet, 90-66. In the first six minutes of the contest, the Pumas led 10-2. The Pumas led by nine points at the half to a score of 44-35, then pushed its lead to 15 points at 62-47 with 9:38 to play and up to 25 points at 76-51 with 6:18 remaining. The Pumas' biggest lead was 87-61 with 1:24 left.

Jan. 24. Saint Joseph's was edged out by Lewis in a one-point overtime loss, 66-65. Behind for all of the first half, in the last two minutes of the second half the Pumas tied the score, 53-53. Saint Joe edged out ahead of Lewis until the Flyers scored a three-pointer and threw the game into overtime.

Jan. 29. The Pumas lost to Southern Illinois-Edwardsville, 85-82. The halftime score was even, 43-43, and during the second half the Pumas held a brief 53-52 lead over the visiting Cougars. SIUE then gained possession and made a 13-point run. With two minutes left to play, the Pumas brought their score to within three points at 79-76.

Jan. 31. Lewis glided by Saint Joseph's in its second overtime victory against the Pumas, 81-78. The Pumas gained a 45-30 halftime advantage over the Flyers, but Lewis fought back until the Flyers achieved a 63-63 stalemate with 7:44 remaining. With two minutes left in the game, Lewis led 71-67, but a layup by Kappers and an 18-foot shot by Kennard brought a 71-71 tie that took the game into overtime. Kennard swished a 10-footer to give the visiting Pumas a brief 73-71 lead at the start of overtime, but then Lewis tallied 10 of the game's next 12 points to take an 81-75 lead and secure the win with 30 seconds left.

Feb. 5. Saint Joe lost in an away game at Ashland, 70-66 in overtime.

Feb. 7. Strong and tenacious defense was the chief asset for Saint Joe as the Pumas held IUPU-Fort Wayne to a 36 percent field goal shooting ratio during an impressive 78-60 Great Lakes Valley Conference victory. This win snapped a four-game losing streak and boosted the Pumas' season record to 17-10 and GLVC mark to 4-7.

Feb. 12. Bellarmine slipped by the Pumas in a 69-68 loss at home for Saint Joe. An incorrect scoreboard, listing fewer SJC fouls than the official tally, confused the Pumas in the final moments of the game and provided Bellarmine with a free throw opportunity that gave them the win.

Feb. 14. The Pumas dropped a 78-71 overtime contest to Indianapolis — another close loss to join six similar losses of the last seven games. Neither team ever achieved a lead of more than five points during the 40 minutes of regulation action; there were 22 lead changes and the score was tied nine times. In overtime the Pumas stole a Greyhound pass, only to see the ball roll across the rim as time expired on their last scoring attempt.

ing the count 65-62. That set the stage for Todd Kennard, who accounted for 10 of the Pumas' final 14 points as he repeatedly forced the Norsemen to foul him with their full-court defensive pressure. Kennard responded by notching both ends of five one-and-one situations.

Jan. 8. Bellarmine defeated Saint Joseph's 95-87, despite strong performances by the Puma's Todd Kennard and Stan Kappers. During the first 10 minutes, the lead changed hands eight times before the Knights used a strong inside battle, 67-60. The contest of swaying momentum saw the visiting Pumas gain an 8-2 lead in the first five minutes before Indianapolis rallied to gain a 10-10 tie within the next three minutes. During the following 10 minutes, Indianapolis dominated the Pumas at both ends of the floor and surged to a 35-25 lead with 2:48 remaining until halftime. That was the last daylight Indianapolis was to see, however, as SJC cut the margin to 35-28 at intermission, then outscored the Hounds by 12-2 in the first six

Dec. 2. The Lady Pumas scraped by Huntington 67-66 in overtime to win Saint Joseph's season-opener. Both teams exchanged narrow leads during the final 12 minutes of regulation play before the Foresters gained a 57-57 tie with 50 seconds remaining, and the Pumas deflated a final Huntington scoring threat by stealing the ball with three seconds to play. Field goals by Judy Stewart and Tracy Payne put SJC on top for good at 61-57 in overtime.

Dec. 6. Saint Joe women pushed Grand Valley State to the wire before dropping an 87-83 decision. Grand Valley led by 41-29 at intermission and still held a 56-44 advantage with 12:21 to play before the Pumas began pecking away at that margin. SJC cut the gap to 63-59 with 7:31 to play and closed to 78-77 on a layup by Judy Stewart. However, the hosting Lakers notched the next two field goals to make it 82-77 and the Lakers led by at least three points the rest of the way.

Dec. 9. Saint Joseph's lost to Purdue-Calumet, 82-65. The Pipers had a 17-point lead by the second half, the same margin as their win. The game's outcome was largely based on shooting proficiency: host Purdue-Calumet bagged better than 50 percent of its field goal tries; in comparison, Saint Joe connected just 36 percent.

Dec. 11. The Lady Pumas pounced on the Valparaiso Crusaders, 76-63. Pumas shot better than 50 percent from the field. SJC jumped to an early 12-6 lead, then scored the final six points of the first half to take a 30-24 advantage into the intermission. Valparaiso rallied at the start of the second half to gain a 30-30 tie, but after the teams traded baskets four times to produce a 38-38 deadlock, the Pumas ran off 10 consecutive points and never looked back.

Dec. 13. Saint Joseph's glided past Saint Mary's, 82-59. Saint Joe jumped out to an early 10-5 lead during the first five minutes and built a 41-31 halftime advantage. The visiting St. Mary's team never came within 10 points of the Pumas during the second half.

Dec. 20. Saint Joseph's women shot a sizzling 64 percent from the field as the Pumas led all the way while dumping Southern Indiana by 68-62 in the Great Lakes Valley Conference opener for both teams.

Dec. 22. The Lady Pumas dialed their field goal accuracy rating up to 68 percent and devoured Kentucky Wesleyan's Panthers with a lightning-quick transition game. Two Wesleyan turnovers followed by Saint Joe layup baskets got the visiting Pumas off to a 4-0 lead in the first minute. By halftime, SJC had gained a 36-25 command, then the Pumas pushed their lead to 64-44 with eight minutes remaining before coach Dave Smith turned the game over to his reserves.

Jan. 2-6. Lady Pumas traveled to Nassau, Bahamas to compete in the First Bahamas Goombay Shootout. Saint Joseph's stomped on the Bahamas National Team, 102-23, then went on to defeat Brandon University (Manitoba, Canada), 78-66. But the Lady Pumas subsequently stumbled against Simon Fraser University (Burnaby, British Columbia), 79-70.

Jan. 10. Saint Joe gained a 77-69 victory over Indianapolis. Saint Joe edged out to a 34-29 halftime lead despite a relatively chilly 39 percent field goal accuracy mark, but the Pumas kept their lead between five and 11 points throughout the second half as SJC warmed up to a 68 percent accuracy rating.

Jan. 13. Northern Kentucky was edged out by Saint Joe, 78-69. Neither team could enjoy any sense of security for long in this tussle, as the lead see-sawed through the first 16 minutes before the Pumas pulled away to a 35-28 halftime advantage. Northern responded by scoring the first 10 points of the second half and the lead changed hands seven times during the first 11 minutes of the half. Northern gained a five-point advantage at 61-56 with five minutes to play, but within the last three minutes the Pumas took the lead for good.

Jan. 15. The Lady Pumas glided by Ashland, 71-66, advancing the team's Great Lakes Valley Conference record to 5-0 and its season record to 9-3. Saint Joe's biggest lead of the first half was 18-13 with 12 minutes played, and the Pumas held only a 29-28 halftime edge. However, the hosting Pumas scored the first four points of the second half and led the rest of the way.

Jan. 17. Saint Joseph's stomped on IP-Fort Wayne, 96-67. The Pumas gained a 12-4 lead in the first five minutes, rolling to a 43-27 advantage by halftime. Less than five minutes into the second half, Saint Joe upped its lead to 50-30 and Fort Wayne never broke that 20-point lead. Following the game, Judy Stewart was presented the game ball by Puma coach Dave Smith in honor of her 1,000th career point. She is only the fourth SJC woman to attain the honor.

Jan. 24. The Pumas inched by Lewis, 70-68. Saint Joseph's appeared to be in total command while holding a 68-58 lead with two minutes to play, but the Flyers bagged a pair of three-point field goals during a scorching rally that produced a 68-68 tie with 20 seconds remaining. That set the stage for Puma Candy Kleine's winning 10-foot baseline jump shot, but victory wasn't assured until Lewis missed an 18-foot jump shot and the Pumas grabbed the rebound with three seconds left.

Jan. 27. Tracy Payne poured in 29 points and grabbed 10 rebounds in a home victory over Valparaiso, 88-69. Saint Joe jumped out to a 10-4 lead after three minutes, then expanded its margin to 23-13 midway through the opening half. The Pumas achieved their biggest lead of the first half at 41-27 with two minutes remaining before visiting Valpo cut the gap to 41-33 at intermission. Valpo never came within eight points of SJC in the early minutes of the second half, and the Pumas led by at least 15 points throughout the game's final 10 minutes.

Jan. 29. Lewis parlayed defensive intensity and aggressive rebounding into a 76-66 victory over Saint Joe as the Puma women suffered their first Great Lakes Valley Conference loss of the season. After a see-saw first half in which the lead changed hands six times, Saint Joe held a 33-32 halftime advantage. But that was to be the Pumas' final Ashland. Ashland edged out to a 39-35 halftime lead after a close first half in which the lead changed hands five times. Momentum surged back and forth in the second half until the Eagles pulled away in the final five minutes.

Feb. 7. Saint Joe women put a thundering end to a four-game losing streak with a 101-67 rout of IUPUI-Fort Wayne. Five Pumas scored in double figures and everyone on the SJC roster saw action as Saint Joe improved its season record to 14-7 overall and Great Lakes Valley Conference mark to 8-3.

Saint Joe grabbed a 7-0 lead in the first two minutes and pushed its advantage to 28-13 midway through the first half. IPFW closed to 48-41 with one minute left before intermission, but SJC scored the next three field goals to make it 54-41 at the break. Fort Wayne was knocked from contention at the outset of the second half, as the Pumas scored the first eight points to take command by 62-41; the Pumas never led by less than 20 points after that.

Feb. 10. Eight Saint Joe players finished in double scoring figures and the visiting Pumas shot 62 percent from the field as SJC overwhelmed Marion, 101-64. Saint Joe jumped to a 12-2 lead in the first four minutes and expanded its lead to 23-10 at the halfway mark of the opening half. By halftime, SJC held a 55-32 bulge, and the Pumas kept their lead between 20 and 25 points for the first 10 minutes of the second half. The Puma defenders held Marion to eight points in the final 10 minutes and Saint Joe outscored the hosts by 24-8 during this stretch.

Feb. 12. Ineffective free throw shooting and an inability to stop Bellarmine's inside attack proved fatal to Saint Joe women as the Pumas dropped a 76-72 Great Lakes Valley Conference contest. Bellarmine had a narrow lead most of the first half before settling for a 36-30 halftime advantage. Early in the second half, the Pumas rallied to gain a 44-42 edge, but then the visitors notched the next 10 points to gain a 52-44 lead; the Belles never led by less than four points the rest of the way.

Feb. 14-15. Two basketball victories made for a highly successful weekend for the Pumas as they trimmed Indianapolis by 71-58 and Marian by 85-68 to improve their season record to 17-8.

lead of the night, as Lewis tallied the first four points of the second half and led the rest of the way.

Jan. 31. Saint Joseph's missed the front end of six one-and-one free throw opportunities in the final five minutes as Bellarmine trimmed the Pumas, 73-67. While Saint Joe struggled at the charity stripe, Bellarmine converted seven free throws in the last four minutes to preserve its lead and drop the Pumas' season record to 13-5 overall and 7-2 in the Great Lakes Valley Conference.

Feb. 4. Saint Joe lost in an away game at Wright State University, 105-86.

Feb. 5. Injuries compounded the discouragement of defeat for Saint Joe women as the Pumas dropped a 75-66 roughhouse contest to
